UNUSUAL SUIT

(Fleming Gazette)
 An unusual suit was brought in the Fleming Circuit Court Saturday when R. M. Skinner as president of Park Lake Association filed a petition and asked a writ of delivery against S. P. Dudley and wife for a piano, alleged to belong to the Association. The piano was won by Mrs. Dudley in an advertising contest conducted several years ago by the Reynolds Pharmacy, since which time it has been in possession of defendant. It is claimed that members assisted Mrs. Dudley in winning the piano, which it is now proposed to donate to the Red Cross as a charitable gift. It is also claimed that Mr. and Mrs. Dudley proposed to give the piano to Park Lake when ever a suitable club house was erected on the grounds for containing it, but as no club house has been erected the piano was not given.

CLEAN-UP COMMITTEE MET

And Heard Suggestions Relative to the Garbage Disposal Question—To Meet Again Tomorrow.

The Board of Health, the Clean-Up Committee and Mr. Carl Dadds together with the Propositions and Grievances Committee of Council met in the Council Chamber yesterday to talk over the question of a municipal pigery. Several suggestions were made. Mr. Will Smith making the suggestion that 25 cents should be charged each household per month for the removal of their garbage which would be gathered twice a week by a regular garbage gatherer. This garbage after it is gathered, to be used in feeding the hogs owned by the city.

One of the committee suggested that the City Council be asked to pass an ordinance making the payment of the 25 cents compulsory on the part of the citizens, but Mr. Frank Clark, President of the Board of Health, said that this would not be necessary if the Council would provide a dumping place, for the Board of Health has ample authority to see that garbage is dumped after an official designated location is made for the purpose.

It is not probable that the city or the Board of Health will have any difficulty in getting the citizens of this city to cooperate with them in this as it has been costing more than 25 cents a month to have their garbage carted away and they would be only too glad to have a regular cart call twice a week to haul off rubbish.

The simplest and easiest way of disposal of the garbage, suggestion was, to sell the right to gather it to some responsible party, allowing him a charge of 25 cents for each household and then for the garbage to be utilized in feeding hogs.

Chairman Smith of the Propositions and Grievances Committee of the City Council, appointed Member Greenlee to see several men and put the proposition of gathering the garbage up to them. Members Davis and Hunsicker were appointed to investigate the cost of the vehicles to be used in carting the garbage away. Members Dodson and Smith were appointed to look up a desirable location for the dump.

The meeting then adjourned until Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock when the reports of the committee will be made.

A. H. SHINKLE PROMOTED

Mr. A. H. Shinkle, formerly of this city, having been identified with the Loose Leaf Tobacco market for several years and considered by many, as one of the very best tobacco men in the burley belt, has been appointed manager of Louisville Leaf Department of the P. Lorillard Company, succeeding Mr. George R. Parker, who has resigned from the employ of the company. Mr. Shinkle has been the buyer for the Lorillard Company on the Louisville breaks since leaving this city.

The many friends in this section of Mr. Shinkle will be pleased to learn of his promotion and feel that the Lorillard Company could not have found in the state a man better fitted for the place.

HUN OFFENSIVE BLOCKED

DOGGED RESISTANCE OF ALLIES HOLDING WEST FRONT INTACT

Germans Unable to Penetrate Lines of Allies by Terrific Onslaughts, and Latter Able Even to Improve Positions—Third Drive Against Paris is Believed Ended.

With the French Army in France, June 5—The enemy's entire pressure appears now to have been turned upon the western flank, where he is making the greatest efforts to straighten out the bulge into his lines occasioned by the determined resistance of the Allies.

The point of his most pronounced advance on the southern end of this bulge is Troesnes, northeast of Laferite Milon, while the northern point of the bulge is at Moulin-Sous-Touvent northwest of Soissons.

Between these two points the Germans have brought much of their artillery and local operations, in which infantry and machine gunners are engaged, are almost incessant. North of the Aisne, as well as to the southward, every attempt of the Germans in the last few days to make further progress has been frustrated as soon as it began.

The Allies even have been able to improve their positions at some points.

The Allies, however, are holding firmly at both ends for the present, despite their inferior numbers, and the German push appears to have reached an obstacle which the enemy finds difficult to overcome.

American and British Reinforcements Hourly Strengthening Fronts

Paris, June 5—The German offensive against Paris is definitely stopped. The Allies are now engaged in the plugging up of the holes on the new front, and all along the line fighting is resolving itself into local operations. The only sector where lively activities continue is between the Ommers and Andenley, south west of Soissons. American and British reinforcements are hourly strengthening the allies front.

"It is believed that now a period of calm will follow between the end of the Amiens battle and the Marne offensive. That a new blow will be struck is generally expected."

German press comment is indulging in much speculation.

The Frankfurter Zeitung believes the British are preparing to deliver a great counter offensive.

Writing in the Berliner Tageblatt, a German military official says the British made a mistake in drawing their reserves from the central position during the Amiens and Flanders battle, thus opening the way for the Germans' Marne offensive.

Enemy Preparing For New Smash to Channel Ports, It Is Thought

Washington, June 5—With the Berlin official statement tonight conceding that there "is no change" on the western battle front, observers here became increasingly confident that the River Marne, for the second time in the great struggle, has marked the end of a drive, intended to crush resistance to the German war machine.

There was some question as to whether it was possible that history would further repeat itself and the invader again be hurled back in precipitous retreat before a vigorous offense. There was nothing to indicate, however, that any officers familiar with the progress of the fighting believed such a stroke by Foch's armies was to be expected now. They did not see any reason to believe that German power had exhausted itself.

It is more than possible, it was said, that renewed assaults on the line from Chateau Thierry to Soissons would come at any moment. The German high command may be gathering strength to force a way through toward Paris.

Official reports from the front, however, that the crack German offensive division, the shock troops, relied upon time and again to break a way through the Allied lines, were disappearing from the new battle front. If this is the fact, officers believed it meant that preparations were already under way behind the German lines for a fourth blow. Where it might fall they hesitated to predict, though some believed that the enemy would derive the greatest results by carrying out his original program of smashing through to the channel ports.

Everybody here is greatly pleased with the evident good impression created by the American troops wherever they have been employed. Tributes paid by British and French observers to the accuracy and volume of American machine gun fire have been noted with particular gratification. General Pershing has insisted upon good marksmanship from the first and it is evident he has had his way in training the men in this regard. The successes scored by the fighting men gives zest to the task of arming and equipping them and rushing them reinforcements for telling victories they will win later.

Officially, officers here discuss the doings of their comrades, at the front in reserved language. Unofficially, they glory in the fact that the Germans are finding themselves busy wherever the men from overseas reach the battle lines.

TAKES FRENCH LEAVE

Ellis Woman and Her Mother Leaves Alms House This Morning and Goes Back to Lee Street.

The city officials have the burden of the Ellis case again on their shoulders, after thinking they had satisfactorily disposed of the case by placing the Ellis child in the St. Joseph's Orphanage at Newport and the Ellis woman and her mother in the Alms House here. These two women were provided with a nice sunny room, three square meals a day and not a bit of work to do and with very few restrictions, but after staying a few days the Ellis woman this morning dragged her mother back to the house they formerly occupied on Lee street. This house has been used by these two women for years, without them paying one cent of rent to the owners. Since last February several efforts have been made to eject them from the house, but have proven fruitless, and the owners and neighbors have raised numerous objections to these women residing there.

The city offers them a good home and if the Ellis woman will not let her mother remain there, where she will be provided for, we suggest that the old lady be placed in the Alms House again and the Ellis woman be put in jail until she is ready to behave herself.

This has been an annoyance to the city long enough and every consideration has been shown to the women and if she is not willing to abide by the laws of the city, when it is for her own good, we think there is only one thing to do and that is to make her obey them.

The following letter was received yesterday by The Ledger and is self-explanatory, showing that our efforts in behalf of the Red Cross Drive were watched by those big wigs who know the value of a sure enough paper:

Dear Sir:

Thank you!
 The Lake Division (Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky) of the American Red Cross is most grateful for the wonderful support you gave during the recent National Drive for $100,000,000. Up to date the Lake Division has gone nearly 35 per cent. over the quota assigned by National Headquarters.

The patriotic cooperation of papers like yours undoubtedly did much to make possible such a magnificent showing.

Again we thank you in behalf of the American Red Cross.

BEAUTIFYING A STREET

No property owner has a right to maintain his property in a neighborhood that detracts from the good name and appearance of that neighborhood. We hear of a case where the people on a street wanted to fix up and make their street attractive and so went to the owner of a particular property and asked him to burnish up his desolate-looking house some and he wouldn't do it. What ought to be done with such people? Something, surely. They should not be allowed to stand in the way of making the town inviting. There ought to be some process for making them stand aside so as to give some chance to the honor of the town. In certain plain cases such property might be condemned and sold for the benefit of the owner. It is possible under the law to condemn property for public uses, and is not the attractive appearance of the town a public use? Yes, as much so as a railroad, a street or a prison. Let us get some clear ideas on this subject. There are several eyesores in this town that need abatement.

WHAT AM I DOING?

Ask yourself this question: "What am I doing toward helping my country win the war?" If you are not doing something don't you think you are a very lukewarm American?

The Government doesn't ask very much of you. It merely asks you to do without unnecessary things and invest the money saved thereby in securities. You can buy War Savings Stamps and assist the nation.

Remember that every time you buy a War Savings Stamp, which is redeemable in gold in 1923, you are firing a shot at Berlin.

"THE FRONT OF JOVE HIMSELF"

The Republican Club of New York City, which cancelled the membership of Theodore Roosevelt in 1912, and took his picture down from its walls, has recently put the picture back and notified the Colonel that he has been re-elected to membership. The Colonel has accepted with expressions of appreciation and cooperation. The incident is but typical of what has been going on all over the country, not merely in the big city clubs but in the small organizations and the cross-roads gatherings. The old divisions have been forgotten.

COMMERCE CERTAIN TO BOOM UNDER PROPOSED TRANSPORTATION SYSTEMS

New York—Within a year, if the war be so long continued, the chances are excellent that there will be adequate co-operation and co-ordination between the land and water transportation systems which will bear an important relation to the commerce that will center at South Atlantic and gulf ports. This will be possible only through the Government control of transportation over land and water under Director-General McAdoo.

The great minds which were occupied about 20 years or more ago in perfecting, simplifying and co-ordinating a Southern railroad system were inspired to that action in part by their belief that the Southern ports upon the Atlantic and upon the gulf would offer especial advantage to commerce, although at that time the commerce which was chiefly in mind was that which would be established between the West Indies, Central American States and South America, both by way of the Panama Canal and by way of the Atlantic.

The Railroad Administration and Shipping Boards are now attempting to perfect working connecting between the ports and the railroads with intent to have commerce more evenly distributed among the ports. If that can be done then much of the excessive volume of trade with which the railroads that carried traffic to and from the Northern ports have been overburdened, would be relieved because no small part of this traffic can, by direction of the Government authorities, be diverted to railroads that are not overburdened and that have direct connection with Southern ports.

This somewhat difficult problem to solve has been placed in the hands of a committee, which is to be known as Port, Harbor and Terminal Improvement Commission. Highly competent men are members of this commission. The chairman of it is Edward E. Hurley, who is Director of Operations of the Shipping Board. So also the army and navy are to be represented on this commission. The individual members are Benjamin L. Winchell, Samuel M. Felton, Captain A. C. Hodgson, George S. Dearborn, J. H. Rossiter and Edwin F. Gay.

Should this commission be able, as it probably will be, to solve the problem speedily, then there will be established complete and efficient integration of the land and water systems at the Atlantic and the gulf ports. This should be of almost incalculable advantage to the Government should the war be continued another year or more, but it will also be of inestimable importance in maintaining and increasing our foreign trade when the time of peace comes. One of the authorities who have been considering this question recently said:

"One of the big questions with which this commission is to deal involves the best method of shortening land hauls, thereby relieving some of the railroads and at the same time increasing the volume of the traffic hauled by others."

There are now upon the South Atlantic and the gulf ports as good as any over which our flag floats to which traffic, provided railroad co-operation can be perfected, can be economically and satisfactorily forwarded. If this be done no small part of the congestion at New York Harbor will be relieved. One of the reasons why there has been delay in transporting supplies across the sea is to be found in the congested condition at New York.

Before the war much the greater part of the imports of the United States and substantially one half of the exports were concentrated in the harbor of New York. Many were the attempts made to divert traffic to other parts, but these were on the whole unsuccessful. It is partly due to that tendency which was established long before the war began, and which has made New York the pre-eminent commercial port that this congestion of traffic in New York Harbor has continued.

It should be to the advantage of New York if a considerable part of the traffic were diverted to Southern ports. For in that way New York can handle commercial business which comes to it, and which will always be large, more expeditiously than it is now possible to handle it.

One of the latest and certainly one of the greatest of the achievements of the late Norman B. Beam is now visibly demonstrated at Charleston. It furnishes an object lesson whereby a railroad good Southern port facilities. Mr. Beam, with a few associates, planned and then constructed one of the best of America's railroads so far as science and equipment are concerned, whereby the Clinchfield coal district was made available for industry.

The railroad proper terminates at Spartanburg, S. C. At that point connection is made with another road by means of which Charleston is reached. Mr. Beam contemplated the erection of great coal terminal facilities at Charleston. He did not live long enough to see the completion of his plans. But now at Charleston there is established one of the finest export coal terminals found anywhere in the world. The most highly improved modern apparatus for handling coal has there been installed. It compares favorably with the apparatus which is used at Duluth, whereby iron ore is

TERRIBLY SWOLLEN

Suffering Described As Torture Relieved by Black-Draught.

Rossville, Ga.—Mrs. Kate Lee Able, of this place, writes: "My husband is an engineer, and once while lifting, he injured himself with a piece of heavy machinery, across the abdomen. He was so sore he could not bear to press on himself at all, on chest or abdomen. He weighed 165 lbs., and fell off until he weighed 110 lbs., in two weeks.

He became constipated and it looked like he would die. We had three different doctors, yet with all their medicine, his bowels failed to act. He would turn up a ten-cent bottle of castor oil, and drink it two or three days in succession. He did this yet without result. We became desperate, he suffered so. He was swollen terribly. He told me his suffering could only be described as torture.

I sent and bought Theodor's Black-Draught. I made him take a big dose, and when it began to act he fainted, he was in such misery, but he got relief and began to mend at once. He got well, and we both feel he owes his life to Theodor's Black-Draught."

placed upon the lake steamers. This terminal plant can now handle about 2,000 tons an hour. And, in fact, it will handle in one day as much coal as was exported through Charleston in the entire year of 1913.

The railroad runs its tracks directly to the port terminal. Within a year probably other railroads will have completed connection between their terminals and the docks and piers that are now being established in some of the great ports of the South Atlantic Coasts and upon the Gulf Coasts. This is likely to be especially true of Mobile, whence presumably a very large commerce with South America through the Panama Canal will be established speedily, even though the war interferes with the highest development of that commerce.

SHOULD ENLIST THE GOAT

(Chicago News)

An ancient prejudice against the goat, a prejudice that should not persist in this enlightened age and favored climate, is largely responsible for the disfavor in which that animal is held. The pig has lived down what Moses said about it, and the goat should be able to do likewise, though the anathema upon the former was on sanitary and in the case of the latter upon moral grounds.

Experts of the Agricultural Department are trying to persuade farmers and ranchmen to run more to goats as well as to sheep. There are figures tending to show that the goat is 86 per cent efficient as a farm animal, as against the 76 per cent efficiency of the sheep. Anybody who has associated much with sheep can scarcely believe that useful but weak-minded creature is even 76 per cent efficient. A sheep has less sense than a cow and scarcely more than a hen.

Besides producing hair of excellent quality for weaving, and savory flesh, the goat also gives milk which is good for man's use. It is also healthier than the sheep, showing that it suffers no pangs of conscience and has been unjustly charged with sin. If our enlightened farmers wish to speed up the war they will take kindly to the milk goat, the Angora goat and the goat.

SIDE-TRACKING GEN. WOOD

(New York World)

The news that General Leonard Wood is to be kept in this country while the division whose training he is completing will go abroad under his second in command will give every fair-minded man a bad taste in the mouth.

General Wood has undoubtedly been offensive in his attitude toward the Administration and the military high command. But that aggressive antagonism should have been punished either by Court-martial or not at all—certainly not by permanent interment in the United States.

General Wood may not be the genius that many of his supporters consider him, but well over one hundred Generals have now gone abroad and there must certainly be some among this number with whose military talents those of General Wood can favorably compare.

Some people never like to take advice from a poor man.

Any man who lives up to his epitaph is a dead one.

PARIS TWICE THREATENED

(Courier-Journal)

As in August, 1914, Paris is threatened by the German drive. It was believed generally in August, 1914, that the Germans would take Paris. It was not conceded, and it was not believed, that they would necessarily or probably win the war because of their taking Paris. If they should take Paris this summer the task of civilization would be greater than it would be otherwise, but it would remain a task which civilization in its own interest, for its self-preservation, must accomplish, and it would be accomplished.

Paris was threatened in 1914 when the Germans were stronger than they are today and when the Allies were weaker, in all of the essentials of warfare. Only the super-timorous will concede Paris to the Kaiser this summer because he has made in the last few days an advance of fifteen or twenty miles. The Battle of the Marne in 1914 will be recalled as the Marne is reached by the Germans in 1918. Heavy payment in men has been made by the German army for the territory that has been gained. Lighter cost has been the portion of the Allies as they have given ground. It is well to understand that Paris is to a degree menaced by the German advance, but it is by no means necessary to be pessimistic about the results of the series of battles which will be continued in all probability throughout the summer.

If the Germans should get into Paris, with Russia at their command behind them, the effect upon the German civilian population would be, of course, intoxicating. They would be fanatically devoted to the House of Hohenzollern. The end sought by the Kaiser at the opening of the war, and planned for before the war when there was anti-imperial grumbling in Germany, would be for the time being gained, but civilized countries would realize as never before—every home and every man and woman in every civilized country would realize as never before—the threatening of the very foundations of Christendom by Germany and her wassals. As never before the peoples of the free countries would face the fight with determination to exert every energy, to contribute every dollar, to use every man to put down Kaiserism once and forever.

The greatest fight which civilization ever has waged in its defense will be won. The slow accretions of many centuries of Christianity and progress toward liberty will not be wiped out by apogonism as exemplified in the alliance of the Turks and Germans and Bulgars for loot. One year, two years, five years, ten years may be required to put down Kaiserism, but the feat will be accomplished, and upon German soil, with the Stars and Stripes in the vanguard the legions of liberty will march to victory which will be the greatest and the most glorious triumph of right, the most overwhelming defeat of ignoble might in the history of the world.

The field of Armageddon is not bounded by the Marne and the Seine. If the Germans should take Paris the major effect would be to increase the fury of the fighting against their further advance. They would be whipped. Tim and again in the course of history the barbarian hordes have issued from the Teutonic breeding grounds in North Europe to loot, rape, burn, pillage and destroy. They have penetrated as far south as North Africa, but they have not established Teutonic kultur in the non-Teutonic countries. They have not changed the ethnography or changed radically the topographical geography of Europe. There is much less likelihood that they will do so in the Twentieth century than there was that they could do so in any earlier period, when there was not the community of interests between civilized countries which exists today, the system of communication between distant countries akin in culture, the international public opinion which has the moral power to summon the physical power to make its decrees enforceable.

The Germans will not win a final victory. Depend upon that. Even if they should take Paris they would be beaten back to the Rhine and beyond the Rhine, but it should be borne in mind that their taking Paris in 1918 seems far more unlikely than it seemed in 1914, when the Germans had in the field eight men to five men available to the Allies; when the Germans had far superior artillery, and when the Germans had started the war by the time-clock, with every man in his place, with every detail of the plan of conquest worked out, with an early and easy victory a positive certainty to the Kaiser, the General Staff and the class which provided the financial means and looked forward confidently to rich loot and the lasting aggrandizement of the German Empire; the apotheosis of Wilhelm II. and the House of Hohenzollern and the everlasting enslavement of Germans to the imperialistic ideal of government.

One of the strangest things in this world is why a man feels henpecked when he is following his wife and toting his baby.

Our idea of a hypocrite is the gent in the silk shirt who hollers for the women to get back into calico.

A POPULAR VERDICT

Based on Evidence of Maysville People.

Grateful thousands tell it—Of weak backs made strong—Of weak kidneys made well—Urinary disorders corrected. Maysville people add their testimony.

They praise Doan's Kidney Pills. Maysville evidence is now complete. Maysville testimony is confirmed. Reports of early relief substantiated. Merit doubly proved by test of time. Let a Maysville citizen speak. Fred Dresel, tailor and justice of the peace, 1238 East Second Street, says: "I was troubled by inflammation of the bladder and annoyance from my kidneys. The kidney secretions burned in passage and often were retarded. I had severe pains across the small of my back which greatly interfered with my work. Doan's Kidney Pills, which I got at Wood & Son's Drug Store, gave me prompt relief."

Mr. Dresel gave the above statement on February 6, 1908, and on November 14, 1916, he added: "I have had the same faith in Doan's Kidney Pills today as ever, for I haven't had any trouble with my kidneys since I last recommended them."

Mr. Dresel is only one of many Maysville people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you—don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS, the same that Mr. Dresel had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 60c at all stores. ## 115 YOUTHS REGISTER

One hundred and eighteen youth from Mason county, who have reached the age of 21 years since last June, registered at the Post Office building yesterday. The names of these registrants will be published as soon as released by the local board.

This is the first registration since last June and from now on it will likely be held every three months and all young men reaching their 21st year will have to register.

There are remaining still about eighty farmers in the county in Class A 1 who have been placed in the deferred list on account of growing crops and these with the few remaining men in Class 1 in Maysville will likely be called before these last registrants.

SUBMARINE ADD TWO MORE SHIPS TO LIST

New York, June 5.—Two more vessels, a Norwegian steamship and one schooner were added today to the list of ships known to have been sunk by the German submarines, which are raiding in American waters. The total now stands at thirteen, five steamers and eight schooners.

A fact which is regarded as significant is that the unarmed merchant ships attacked have all been sunk by the use of bombs and shells, torpedoes never having been called into service.

It was definitely established tonight that only 16 lives have been lost, the victims being on board the Carolina.

ORDER COAL NOW

Or the Chances are You Will Go Without the Coming Winter and Be Compelled to Shiver It Out.

Supplementing the order issued by the United States Fuel Administration designating June 3-8 as "EARLY ORDERING COAL" WEEK, Governor Stanley issued the following proclamation designating coal week in Kentucky which started Monday and continues until next Saturday:

TO THE PEOPLE OF KENTUCKY,

GREETINGS:

"Whereas, June 3 to 8 has been designated by the United States Fuel Administration as coal week, during which time a campaign will be waged urging all domestic consumers to place their orders for stored coal at this time, I cannot too strongly insist upon an immediate and hearty cooperation with this wise and pertinent recommendation of the United States Fuel Administration and the efficient head of this organization in the State of Kentucky. This timely admonition of the Government can and should be instantly heeded by every patriot who loves his country, and even though lacking in patriotism—which I cannot conceive in a Kentuckian at this time—common sense and comfort should suggest this foresight against certain inconvenience and probable suffering.

Coal is essentially a munition of war. Without an adequate supply of coal, no provisions are stored and munitions prepared in vain unless the bunkers of the ships transporting them are filled with coal. It supplies the power to every mill and factory now working overtime to supply our allies with sorely needed implements of war. A failure of an adequate supply of coal leaves our whole transportation system inert and helpless. If the domestic consumer, indifferent or careless fails to heed this warning, he must either do without coal in the midst of the rigors of winter or be supplied at a time when his needs will seriously interfere with the operation of the Federal Government in providing without delay necessary fuel to railroads and ships and munition plants at a time when their efficiency may determine the security of civilization and the destiny of the world.

The people of Kentucky can in no better way show their patriotism than by ordering coal now and getting it out of Uncle Sam's way, for he must have these railroads for the war. The price of this commodity has been reduced. The increased freight rate will not go into effect until June 25th. Economy and patriotism alike demand instant action. The Fuel Administration makes no effort to conceal the eminent danger of a coal shortage during the coming year. The requirements for bituminous coal as ascertained by the Administration, indicate that the production will likely fall considerably short of the necessary amount.

Coal ordered now can be secured. Coal ordered 90 days from now may not be secured. In the summer months ing conditions are more favorable. The coal is cleaner, transportation facilities are infinitely better. Under normal conditions thousands of coal cars are not used at this time. Let no coal car remain empty on a siding now because of the folly or indifference of the people of this State.

All vividly remember the difficulties encountered in the delivery of coal during last winter. Experience should teach us to provide against a similar catastrophe and probably worse conditions during the ensuing winter. This warning is intended for public utilities and industrial enterprises as well as domestic consumers. All, during the coming week, should accumulate sufficient coal to meet this winter's requirements. No consumer of coal should fall under any circumstances to lay in at least 60 days' supply.

Food, fuel and manpower—upon these three rest the struggle. A failure of the fuel supply will render impotent the diligence of the tiller of the soil in the production of increased harvest and the heroism of the soldier upon the field of battle. Nor can instant and hearty cooperation with the Federal Government in this suggestion will avert the manifold misfortunes which will inevitably result from a congestion of our transportation facilities in the midst of winter and a lack of fuel for the needs of the Government.

Kentucky has responded to every call. She has crowned herself with honor in the Liberty Loan Drive, in the Red Cross Campaign and in the speedy mobilization of her sons for battle. Let her conduct in this manner be another proof of her intelligent and active cooperation and her ardent patriotism in obeying gladly and without delay every demand of the President of the United States and of the Organization acting with and through him for the maintenance of the honor of the flag and the liberation of the world.

Therefore, I, A. O. Stanley, Governor of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, do proclaim the week of June 3 to 8, "COAL WEEK", and request all domestic consumers, public utilities and industrial enterprises of every character to, without delay, avail themselves of this period for the purpose and storage of a supply abundantly adequate for their various needs during the ensuing winter.

In testimony whereof, I have caused these letters to be patent and the seal of the Commonwealth to be hereunto affixed. Done at Frankfort, the first day of June, in the year of our Lord, 1918, and in the 126th year of the Commonwealth.

A. O. STANLEY.
